The first case on the criminal docket was that of Clarence G. Cotton of Rumford, who conducted a low priced boarding house on Congress street. In a raid of Dec. 22, the officers found several bottles containing alcohol. Cotton offered a general denial of the ownership and the state's case belonged to his boarders. The jury was out five hours and could not agree. Albert Beliveau was his attorney.

Oven Palmer of Rumford retracted his former plea of "not guilty" to one of "guilt of illegal transportation of liquor." He was sentenced to pay a fine of $200 with two months in the county jail, six months addition in default of fine.

Antonio Umbro of Rumford was sentenced to states prison for not less than one year or more than three. This was the outcome of a christening in the Italian colony where red liquor and home brew put the guests in a hilarious state. A man named Gasparini was shot in the breast with a revolver by the respondent. Umbro denied any knowledge of the shooting but admitted he might have fired a shot from the revolver he carried on his person. The judge in view of the fact that the respondent carried a concealed weapon gave the states prison sentence.

Rinaldo L. Cummings pleaded "not guilty" to the charge of misbranding apples. He was recognized personally in the sum of $500 for his appearance from day to day.

Two civil actions, Grover C. Hartford and his wife, Mildred F. Hartford vs. Western Maine Power Co., negligence in auto collision, was heard Tuesday afternoon and given to the jury Thursday forenoon. Actions are to secure damages covering medical attendance, boarding the children, help in the household and other items incidental to the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartford and two children of Hiram were driving from Hiram to Sebago on May 20, 1923, when a Ford touring car used and operated by the defendants collided with the carriage. Mrs. Hartford was thrown out, and sustained injuries to her hip as alleged, which resulted in surgical treatment at Portland. Since then she has been practically an invalid.

The defense denied any negligence and claimed the collision an unavoidable accident. Medical testimony was introduced to show causes other than a fall at the time, might be responsible for Mrs. Hartford's condition. Two nerve specialists from Portland and Dr. Neve of Hiram were called by both parties.

Several bills connected with the immediate case were questioned by the defense. Attorneys for the plaintiff, S. F. Thaxter of Hartford and Frederick B. Dyer of Portland; for defendant, Robert Payson and Hastings & Hastings of Fryeburg.

BACKACHE IS
DISCOURAGINGBut Not So Bad If You Know How to Reach the Cause.

Nothing more discouraging than a constant backache. Lame when you awaken, pains pierce you when you bend or lift. It's hard to work or to rest. Backache often indicates bad kidneys. Norway people recommend Doan's Pills. Read this case.

Mrs. G. D. Frost, 6 Tucker St., says: "Doan's Pills helped me wonderfully and I take pleasure in recommending them. My back gave me trouble and there seemed to be a deep seated pain across the center of my back. My kidneys didn't act regularly and in other ways showed signs of disorder. As Doan's Pills had been used in the family with good results, I decided to try them and sent to Noyes Drug Store and got a box. After using them, the trouble left me entirely."

EAST WATERFORD

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jacobson attended the funeral of Mrs. William Keene at Bridgton, Saturday. Mrs. Keene was brought to Elm Vale cemetery at South Waterford and laid to rest beside her husband, who died several years ago.

Mr. Fred Learned, who has been in poor health for several years with dropsy and heart trouble, met with a very painful accident last Wednesday. While standing near the stove she had a bad spell and fell on to it severely burning both hands and burned her face some. She is very low at this writing. Mrs. Learned is very feeble which makes it doubly hard. Her brother, W. L. Heath, and wife and Willis Learned, wife and sister are helping to care for her.

Mr. and Mrs. Kneeland were much frightened Saturday morning when their chimney was found to be on fire as there was a high wind, but no damage was done for which they feel very thankful. L. E. McIntire is improving and it is thought that Mrs. McIntire has conquered the erysipelas in her face and stopped its spreading.

Clayton McIntire's children, Myron and Mary, have chicken pox. It has gone about through the school but none have been very sick.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Pride, Hugh Foster and wife and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Pinkham attended the installation of Keoka Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, Friday evening.

A Business Story

Rich in meaning to every motor car buyer

How Studebaker reached the heights

THE story of Studebaker has been told by many men in many ways. Now let us tell it to you.

Studebaker growth has in late years been Motordom's sensation. Sales have mounted until last year 145,000 buyers of quality cars selected Studebakers. They paid over $200,000,000 for them.

All must realize that a new situation has arisen in high-grade cars. You who are interested should now analyze the reasons.

72-year traditions

The Studebaker principles have become traditions in their 72 years of existence. They have never wavered. In all changing conditions they have brought new luster to that name.

Men come and go, but a name like this becomes a heritage to foster and enhance. That's what we've done — we who have that name in keeping for a time.

Studebaker has always been a leader. For two generations it led in horse-drawn vehicles, now products of the past.

Most of you remember Studebaker carriages — queens of their time. They were used by multitudes of people who loved quality and style.

When motor cars succeeded them, Studebaker became the logical leader in that field. Any other place would have been an anomaly.

The only way to the top

A concern of this age has one fact ingrafted in its fiber. The only way to leadership is through super-service.

The leader must excel in all you seek — in quality, in beauty and in value. There is no other way to the top. Every stretch of the road is strewn with wrecks of those who tried another.

What others say — not what you say — determines your place in the long run. In every field of endeavor one must accept that fact.

We had the money, the plants, the prestige. We had the incentive of Studebaker traditions. In time we secured the men.

We told those men to build for us the utmost in fine motor cars, regardless of all costs. We pledged them our good faith and our resources.

The cost was $50,000,000

We built new factories — modern plants. We fitted them with new equipment — 12,500 up-to-date machines.

Find Out Why

People paid over $200,000,000 last year for Studebaker cars.

The result is now a demand for 150,000 per year.

Over $50,000,000 in modern plants and equipment to build the finest of fine cars.

One of these cars, built in 1918, has run 475,000 miles. That means 80 years of ordinary service. In December this car made the trip from coast to coast.

chines. Of the $50,000,000 in our plants and equipment, $32,000,000 has been invested in the past five years. So it represents the last word in efficient manufacture.

We established a Department of Methods and Standards, to fix for every Studebaker detail the maximum of quality.

We created a Bureau of Research and Experiment, employing 125 skilled men. They make 500,000 tests per year to maintain our supremacy.

They fixed countless standards, including 35 separate formulas for steels. Then on the most important steels we offered makers a bonus of 15% to conform to those standards exactly.

We invested $8,000,000 in a drop forge plant to make all our own drop forgings. $10,000,000 in body plants, to build all bodies to our standards.

We employed 1,200 skilled inspectors to see that all standards were fulfilled. There are 30,000 inspections on Studebaker cars during manufacture, before they go out from the factory.

That's the whole story

That's about the whole story. We simply followed the never-changing Studebaker principles. We gave to our buyers the utmost — values they could not match. Then they turned by tens of thousands to Studebaker cars.

Over 750,000 of those cars have gone out. Their performance has developed a demand for 150,000 per year.

Every increase in sales brought a lowered cost, which we promptly gave our buyers. Today these fine cars are offering values which no rival can approach. They have made us the world's largest builders of quality cars.

We deserve a hearing

Now we deserve a hearing. All who consider a car at $1,000 or over should learn what Studebaker offers. That in fairness to yourself and us. Check one by one the advantages we offer. You'll find them by the score.

Remember that 145,000 who did that last year chose a Studebaker car. There are nine chances in ten that you'll do it.

Consider our record, our accomplishments, our policies and principles. Consider that we have $90,000,000 at stake on satisfying men like you. Don't buy a car in this high-grade class without seeing what we give.

WOODSMAN JOINS STORY TELLERS

If you think it is a cold in your town last Saturday night, listen to this one. In the smoking compartment of a Grand Trunk train out of Portland early yesterday morning the subject of "way below zero last Saturday" became a home town boast.

Seated in a corner was a typical north woodsman, so far as costume was concerned, and a Canadian Government surveyor's pack, including head strap, was on the floor beside him. He listened without comment until one smoker half quipped, "Going into the woods?" and the young man answered that he was coming out.

One word called for another and the chap finally said, "Your talk of 10, 20 and 25 below zero makes me think of the hunter being chased by the bear. When he overtook a rabbit on the trail he yelled to the rabbit, 'Get out of the way and let someone run who can run,' for I've been where it was cold."

It then developed that last September he crossed the line to spend a few weeks with pal in Canada who had secured some land from the Government at Ox Bow on the Toboquog River. Plaster Rock is the jumping off-place on the C. P. R. and the land was 14 miles beyond. The weather was balmy and they carelessly threw together a 12 by 16 log cabin without windows and made a roof of some bark left behind by woodmen who had peeled logs. It was damp at the time and the moss they used for chinking the walls was wet.

Bare dirt was the floor and they had a little star stove a man could carry under his arm. All week well until last Saturday night. Before going to bed they had the cabin warm and left the stove full of fuel. In the early morning hours the yarn spinner awakened almost paralyzed with cold. Logs and moss chimneys were covered with heavy frost. On all four sides it was a solid frosty glitter like snow.

Shaking as if with the palsy it took a half-hour to light a fire and hours to get thawed out. Sunday was almost as bad in the cabin and outdoors it was worse.

"How cold was it?" the youth was asked, and he said as regards degrees indoors he did not know, but it was so cold they hiked 14 miles to Plaster Rock where it had been 50 below, and he was still traveling and hoped to be warm by the time he got home to Norway.

Later it developed that he was Ralph N. Parker and the warm Norway he was headed for was Norway, Me.

OF INTEREST TO SHIPPERS

Believing that there was a need for such service, the Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc. inaugurated a line between New York and Portland, which proved a great boon to Maine shippers and consignees during the severe weather which was experienced last winter when rail routes in New England were blocked, forcing shippers to embargo practically all commodities moving between Maine points and New York for a considerable period.

While at first we were forced to use unsuitable steamers and inadequate terminals, we have, during the last several months, been maintaining the equivalent of an express service, on basis of different rates, with a regular schedule of three sailings a week from each port, operating two steamers specially built for the purpose, from terminals admirably adapted and situated for this trade.

Notwithstanding this and the fact that of its regularity, dispatch, lower rates, and terminal accommodations, has received the uniform commendation of shippers using same, earnings of this line have not been such as to justify its continuance. Therefore, inasmuch as it is possible to decrease expenses, we must either secure more liberal patronage or curtail service.

The maintenance of this route would appear to be of great value to New York and Maine shippers, not only because it furnishes the quickest and cheapest route between New York and Maine points, but for the reason that an all-water route serves as a rate regulator and offers a means of transportation which is open the year round, and it is hoped that shippers will avail themselves of this service to a larger extent in order that we may not be forced to curtail or withdraw same.

Steamers sail from Pier 31, North River, New York, and State Pier, Portland, on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays at 4:00 P. M. Schedule time between ports is 26 hours.

Further information regarding service and rates can be secured by communicating with Traffic Department, Eastern S. S. Lines, Inc., Pier 18 North River, New York, or India Wharf, Boston.

NORTH NORWAY

A Letter From the South.
Mrs. Edwin Cox recently received the following interesting and descriptive letter from her sister, Miss Annie Hobbs, who is in the mountains of Virginia at present, doing missionary work.
Lower Pococan Mission,
McMullen, Green Co., Virginia.
Feb. 1, 1924.

Dear Sister: The first few days I was here it was bitterly cold, but somehow the atmosphere seemed different from our northern atmosphere. This morning the ground was frozen, but not a cold air. Some found zero weather those cold days. I did not look at the thermometer until after the sun was up and it was 10 above. Day before yesterday my feet were cold until afternoon, but much of this was due to being in a room with two panes of glass gone from the windows, also a part of a panel from the door and a thickly built building. I do not object to building two fires in the morning this weather though the wood is of green oak and chestnut and not much in the kindling line. Sometimes I have to build the fires two or three times over, before they will burn. Our house has a pantry, kitchen, dining room, living room and a room the people before us used for the postoffice and office. We use it for a store room, putting the mail bags there and mail in pigeon holes in a desk in the living room. The rooms have been well boarded making them much warmer than last winter. There is a little room upstairs which we use for our clothing as a closet. Miss Edwards has a stove in her room which heats mine also. My room is nearly square and some larger than the one I had at 79 No. Common. In one corner is a little affair with a shelf underneath for a wash bowl and pitcher and a little corner shelf over it all which I use to put things on for school use.

I have a good bed and plenty of blankets, a white spread and a day pillow slip with handmade lace on it; also have a chiffoniere, rocking chair and a shelf over my table on which I keep writing material, blank books, etc. On my table I have books, my clock and Father's and Mother's picture. There are two windows in my room and the floor is bare, with a few unframed pictures on the wall. It is extremely plain, but cozy and homey. We hurry up to our rooms as soon as the evening meal is over. There is a piazza on three sides of the house. Near us is a small house called the clothing bureau, where people send clothing which is put on sale Fridays from two to four o'clock. The clothing sent here is mostly pretty good, and sold cheap to the mountaineers, so they are really well dressed. The money from the sale of the clothing helps buy things to keep the mission going, houses repaired, wood cut and hauled, etc. We have to pay for almost every trifling thing we have on the place. It costs much for the upkeep of even such a place as this. To get corn fodder hauled up the mountain for the horse (that is what he lives on) costs $2.50 per load, fifty bunches in a load. Stokes, our jet black horse, would be a beauty with the care a horse ought to have on his job 15 years, I believe. We went eight miles out last Saturday to Standardville in a bitter cold air. I wore a woolen dress, sweater, my coat and an extra coat over that and was none too warm. We could not travel faster than a walk. We had to ford a river which I dread even more than at first. It was dark before we reached home and we were dreading to put up the horse and come into the cold house. When we were yet some rods down the mountain we saw in the dim light the figure of a man. He proved to be our nearest neighbor, one-half mile away. Not finding us in, he evidently came to see if we were making it all right. He took care of Stokes, brought in our big oil can, bade us good evening and disappeared. One year ago this kind service would not have been given. We felt happy someone in this spot cared.

Now about eats, we have the usual vegetables, white bread, good butter, fresh eggs, good coffee, bacon, sometimes beef steak, sausages, and most all kinds of cereal. No pie, pudding or cake yet. Have been out to supper twice. One place the men went in the day to cut wood, the women in the evening and to supper and a dance. Some of them wore evening dress, one a pink silk. Some of the men wore ordinary suits, while others were neatly dressed in overalls and jumpers, some of them wore their hats. The ladies wore the latest hair dressing. The people farm and do odd jobs when there is anything to be done. The houses I have been in are much like this except that some have large stone fireplaces. I go to the schoolroom about 8:30, see that everything is in order to begin school. Our first study is something from the Prayer book which is really teaching them something directly about our Master, his life and work. Something along this line every day to begin the day right. Then the usual common school studies. Have fourteen pupils from 7 to 16 years of age. Will close now hoping you will not get weary deciphering all this.

Much love from your sister,
Annie.

NORWAY AND VICINITY

LOCAL NEWS FROM ST. PETERSBURG, FLORIDA

Sent card telling of our arrival here, Jan. 1, 1924. I certainly intended writing before but failed to do so for reasons which might seem unreasonable, so will not explain.

It's five weeks yesterday since arriving. Time flies and can hardly realize the winter is fast passing.

The first five days it was beautiful, warm, Florida sunshine weather. Saturday, Jan. 5, it changed. Sunday, Jan. 6, was a cloudy, windy, cold day. Mercury, 7 A. M., 34 above; Noon, 50; 7 P. M., 40. Two mornings since then it was 38 above. Most of the days in January 50 to 70 above. Have had much rain with two thunder showers the past week. They call it bad weather for Florida, thus far this winter. I hope it will be better from now on.

When we hear of the terrible cold up North, we should be thankful we have escaped it. We were fortunate in getting a comfortable room with nice people, near in to center of city. In our room we have a stove with plenty of wood, furnished, hot and cold water.

Many people from Maine here. There is a State of Maine Association. At a meeting in the evening, Jan. 24, at the Chamber of Commerce we attended there were some 400 present. General business was attended to followed by an entertainment, lunch and general get-acquainted good time.

Norway and Oxford County were well represented. Those from Norway and vicinity are:

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kilgore, Mr. and Mrs. Win. Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Maxin, all at 218 10th Ave. North.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Seavey and Paul, 853 1st Ave. No.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Devine and daughter Louise, 1241 Euclid Boulevard.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Caswell, 314 Central Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Smith, Idle-Wild House, E. 125 3 Ave. No.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wilbur and son, 800 Wood St.

Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Hancock, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hancock from Casco, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown and two boys, 333 1/2 Eighth St. No.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Andrews, from Lovell, Me.

Ernest Walker, Bethel, Me.

Truman Stearns (son of Eder), formerly of Lovell, now from Boston.

Kenneth Gursey (with Ben Brown), Norway.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. McCarthy, 1025 4th South.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellen Fox of Portland, Me., formerly of Lovell, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Noyes.

Called on the McCarthys last week sorry to find Mr. M. in bed and in rather bad condition, could talk but little.

Said he got out about twice a week. Also called at the Mound Hospital to see Eben Fox. Mr. and Mrs. Fox came to spend the winter with Ben Brown. Mr. Fox was taken ill soon after his arrival and had to submit to a serious surgical operation. He will soon be able to be moved to Ben Brown's.

These sick people are pleased to see friends. H. D. Smith, Dr. Drake, W. H. Kilgore, Harry Brown were with me to visit these afflicted people.

Dr. Drake says: "I'm having the time of my life. Did not realize there was so much of interest in Florida."

Win. Knight is driving Kilgore's car and doing some repair work.

Howard Maxin arrived here on Friday, went to work the next Monday in a store selling auto tires. Has a good job.

Paul Seavey working in the F. O. has been promoted to case work. Has a good job.

Bob Seavey says: "I'm not doing much, just hanging around, sleeping, getting rested. Expect to fish in the Gulf of Mexico most of the time this month."

Melvin Wilbur has had work all the time since he came here, at carpentering at good pay.

Augustus Andrews is working for Fred Clark in his lumber yard.

Truman Stearns is selling real estate. He is in with Pasadena people, the largest development company here. Says it took him about a month to learn how. He's got the Stearns' hustle and is turning dirt into large money.

Ben Brown's camps are near the Pasadena property, which has made his property valuable. He has built more buildings, cleared up his land. I think he will make good money down here.

I got Howard Smith and wife a comfortable room and wife a room. See them every day. They are well and like here.

We are fortunate in having Harry Brown and family here. They are near us and are with each other much of the time. In his nice car one day went to Pasadena. This is an island in the Gulf of 1 1/4 miles long. This is a resort place with quite a settlement, has a Casino and nice beach for bathing. Mr. Brown's boys, 8 and 10, had a fine time in the water. We took our lunch, ate it in the shade, as it happened to be a hot day, 80 in the shade.

Mr. Brown and family took us to Tarpon Springs, 39 miles from St. Petersburg. This is a Greek settlement of much interest. Noted for its fisheries and largest sponge business in the world. Took our lunch and ate it in an orange grove.

Growing resorts and business towns we have visited with the Browns over the iron brick roads. Through these sections are truck farms now marketing green peas, beans, beets, carrots, strawberries, cucumbers, celery, etc.

Great crops of citrus fruits in this section. The high cost of growing, harvesting and transportation gives little profit to the growers. Out in the groves where they have picked to ship and left the ripe fruit which would not keep to ship we have had them given us. In town ripe yellow fruit that will keep only a few days sells for 10 to 20c a dozen.

Have seen growings, oranges, grapefruit, lemons, tangerines, (shaddock which is much like grapefruit, only larger, with a pink pulp, never saw them in the North), guava plums, pawpaw (these grow on a tree, look about the size and taste of our musk melons), Avocado pears. No need of telling you how they taste.

Harking backwards—in New York—Don Seitz took the late George Cole, you and I to lunch at some Democratic Club. Recalling that pleasant milestone in life, you will know.

"Real Estate" is the greatest business with earth ever known. I would think great fortunes have been made here. It seems to me prices are inflated, so many investors will have the balance on the wrong side of the sheet. On Central Ave. lots the past year have sold for $1,000, a front foot. Where the Mason Hotel stands, just completed, build in 8 months, lot 200x200, paid for land $200,000, building cost $1,500,000. Four hotels built the past year in the million class. One of the great Land and Development Companies have and are now clearing and improving 1800 acres out come four to six miles from the best business section of the city. The company has spent much money in improvements and the people, mostly tourists, are just crazy to buy.

I went out with one of the company's salesmen the other day, he tried to lure me in a lot 75 ft. by 100 deep, said it would be in the valuable business section. Price $7,500.00, said this property would advance so fast I could clean up in 60 days, at least $2,000, and I would not do it. Not the first time I have lost, but not in this way. A man who lives here told me this company bought the land in the undeveloped condition, 1800 acres, at a very cheap price, so the cost to them in the rough as they have them now plotted and staked into lots, average to cost 12 1/2 cents a lot.

About selling land at auction: I saw Powell, called the Billy Sunday of the auction block, he says he's the only man on earth who never told a lie, sell 63 lots (small ones) 43x75 and 50x100, way out in unimproved section. Don't seem they would ever be built on, $600 to $1,000 per lot, make the sale in less than 3 hours, land 3 hours or less than a lot. He sells a flat sum of $1,000 for each sale.

Last Saturday, saw a Mr. Horney sell 14 lots, out of city some distance, in 68 minutes. Total amount of sale $15,725.

It is said the owners bought this land a few years ago for $200.00 per acre.

Word I say any more about dirt, only some of it is covered by water.

Was interested in the special election for recall of Mayor and City Commissioners—hot political fight.

The Churches are great centers of attraction, indicated by the large attendance. At the Congregational Church which we have attended, last Sunday morning service every seat was taken, $2,000 people, 1,000 turned away. In the evening every seat taken and many turned away. They tell me it is so with most of the churches. H. D. Smith and wife, Harry Brown and family, were present at both services last Sunday. They all think the minister, Rev. Juniped Kenison, a wonderfully interesting speaker.

Bertha and I are quite well and enjoying the winter. We think and speak of our friends in the North and miss seeing them. We like the south in the winter time, but no place quite as good as Maine and the town of Norway.

F. H. Noyes.

NORWAY IS OUR OWN TOWN—LET'S BOOST IT!

Of course there are times when you feel justified in spending some of your money outside of Norway. You may yearn for a certain rare Oriental rug, and finally accumulate the wherewithal with which to purchase it.

Or, if you are of the opposite gender, and get your thrills in a different way, it may be that your yearning is for a diamond-studded golf stick.

But when it comes down to the many essentials of life, your daily and weekly purchases, then you unquestionably get the most for your money when you spend it at home.

Off hand you may be able to recall a certain few cents you once saved on this "bargain" bought in some big city, or by mail from a Faraway Metropolitan City, or you may have found your local merchant out of this or that trinket. But we repeat, you invariably get the most for your money year in and year out when you buy at home.

The dollar you spend in your home town buys for you one hundred cents' worth of merchandise and service conveniently near at the moment of greatest need, but that is only the beginning of what it does for you.

When you spend your dollars at home it goes to your neighbor's cash register, and from there to the bank. Later it comes out and embarks upon a dozen different missions, all of them in some way benefiting you.

First it helps pay the rental for the store; then it contributes to the payroll; and a little later it pays a portion of the interest on someone's (perhaps your's!) investments. Later it gets around and helps pay general taxes, while from there it is diverted to general improvements, including such things as water works, public buildings, better streets and schools.

All this, of course, increases property values, which boosts Norway and increases your own, and your neighbor's prosperity.

Home dollars kept at home working for home people will make Norway a better place to live in and work in. The more who buy at home the greater the prosperity for each of us.

Norway is our town—let's boost it!

Gould was official weigher, and prizes were awarded the lady and gentleman who paid the largest admissions and also those attending of lightest weight among those attending.

A picture gallery made up of early portraits of people of the parish attracted much attention. The highest record made by anyone in the effort to identify the originals of the portraits was thirty-one correctly named out of a possible forty-five. They were good likenesses once, but people have changed since 1861—or even 1901. The program follows:

Harley Witham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Witham, celebrated his tenth birthday on Friday evening with a party to nine guests. His cousin, Oscar Witham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Witham, also joined in the observance as his birthday came near that date. The party was given at the home of Harley Witham on Winter street, with a supper followed by games and great fun toasting marshmallows.

We are sending a paper to "Bettie" Rounds, Waterford, Me. The real fact is that "Bettie" is the pet horse of the Rounds family, and not supposed to be able to read but the paper goes in her name to please the children. It came about as a Christmas present when the Rounds children received the price of a year's subscription "to do what they saw fit with" and they concluded to have the paper come in the name of their favorite horse instead of in their name.

O. W. Brown, Lynn, Mass.: "I saw Ellsworth Young on the street recently. He has been having a tough time with carbuncles. Also saw A. F. Marston, he is looking nicely and inquired for Norway people. Lynn no longer is the big shoe manufacturing center all on account of the continual trouble with union labor."

Some ten inches of snow came in from the northeast, Wednesday. Traffic was not delayed to any great extent for only small drifts formed. Bus service went along on schedule and Norway remained on the map. This is the heaviest snow fall thus far this winter. Trains arrived late Thursday forenoon but locally the storm was cared for early.

Millettville and Crockett Ridge Millettville stage ran Wednesday, Feb. 13, Harry Millett with his pair of drivers and 3 seated traverse pump fitted out with sleigh heaters, blankets and robes galloped the stage. The occasion was Mrs. Circle Dinner at the Center with Mrs. Alvin Brown and Mrs. Emma Flint as hostesses. The party started the stage was Mrs. Mary Millett, Mrs. Jennie Millett and daughter Dorothy, Mrs. Rust Jackson, who stole the seat by the driver, or perhaps it was pre-arranged by him, and Mrs. Sol Jackson who helped hold down the rear seat. Anyway, 'twas a jolly party on the road both ways.

They arrived at the church vestry at noon and were made welcome and soon very comfortable, but no table was set and conversation looked forth from the faces of the circle members present and excitement prevailed in the kitchen. Men came and went with keys and saw drivers and what all no one knows, but finally a bolt hook helped to solve the dilemma and dishes came to view and silver appeared on the table and in less time than it takes to write it, the table was set and laden with good things to eat. Beans, brown bread, pickles, salads, sticky rolls piping hot, and pastry of all kinds, with gayly dressed cakes, and coffee.

Three times the table, the length of the vestry, was re-set, and they didn't have to whistle chop sticks and all eat from the bean pots as someone suggested. You see they had let the dishes and hall the night before and someone had very carefully locked up the cupboards and silver, but mislaid the key! But one piece of sleazebag was removed and the door opened forthwith, and many hungry folks finally appeased.

Community singing followed and the Millettville stage finally bore away the especial guests midst many calls of "come again," "lovely time," "come to the Haywood Club and we'll entertain you," etc.

Two proud ox teamsters are Harold and Stanley Thurston, who are cutting wood and hauling it off from their mother's farm this winter, with two pair of fine cattle recently bought.

Bill Young three pair, hauling monstrous loads of hemlock for Harry Millett. It must look like cattle show days when they all arrive in Norway village.

Mrs. Arthur Buck and Miss Emerson started out Monday on their rounds visiting schools. The horse when he arrived at Smith's store at the Corner, decided he'd "make around" which he did too suddenly for the comfort of the ladies. Soon ladies' blankets, books and all were deposited on the road very neatly and none the worse for wear. Mrs. Buck held the ribbons and the horse having made his round to his own satisfaction evidently, stopped and they proceeded again on their way, arriving without further mishap.

Dorothy and Alfred Lovejoy are glad to be back at school after a siege of bad colds that kept them from enjoying both school and coasting.

Washington Lives Today

In the hearts and lives of his countrymen. The story of how he led a half-starved, half-frozen, poorly equipped army to victory is one of the most brilliant epics in American history. AS THE PEOPLE WILL

A student of the problem of automobile regulation thinks he has discovered why only a few states have undertaken to prevent highway accidents by restricting grants of operators' licenses to the demonstrated fit and providing for revocation when evidence of unfitness of licensees is forthcoming. He says that, "in most legislatures the representatives of small towns and rural districts constitute a majority. Except in a very few states the accident problem outside the cities has not become sufficiently acute to arouse public sentiment, the rural representative gets no demand for action from the people back home."

There may be some truth in this. But it will not be generally accepted as an explanation for the bad condition that is constantly growing worse. There is as much complaint from small towns and rural districts against reckless drivers as arises in the cities. More real effort made in the smaller communities, apparently, to enforce safety regulations and punish infractions of them than is made in the cities. In the earlier days of motoring, farmers were loudest among the protestants against the new dangers of the roads. It is not believable that familiarity with the perils has made them contemptuous now. And if a serious condition were chargeable in large degrees to "city fellers," we may be sure ruralites would not cease their demands for relief until they got it.

The truth is that licenses only for the fit, which often has been proposed, appears to the majority, whether motorists or not, as an interference with personal rights that would be intolerable. The boggy of discrimination rises in the popular mind when the subject of examinations for motor vehicles operators is brought up. Autoists object to it and those who hope to own cars, which is practically every one who has not yet got one, fear they might be denied a privilege their neighbors have had. The conflict is between conceptions of public right and public duty. There should be more education as to the latter. When the people are properly impressed in this regard there will be no need for restrictions.

Good Cars But Poor Roads

The bigger the body, the slower the movement. The greater the movement must be, the longer it takes to get under way.

The United States is a large body, almost entirely surrounded by good motor cars and poor roads. It is moving slowly, but surely towards a condition when it will have good roads. The movement is slow because the body is so large, and has so many heads, 110,000,000 of them.

Improving our almost three million miles of highways is a huge task. The movement is enormous. Therefore, it takes time to get under way. It is like a monster freight engine, starting up a grade, requiring many locomotives to begin the travel and slowly getting up speed. But once the train is in motion, it has an enormous force for going ahead; it is difficult to stop!

So will it be with our road building program; slowly but surely the movement for better roads than Federal aid can give, for more roads than States alone can build, is gathering momentum. When it gets up speed nothing can stop it.

Should Highway Traffic Have Federal Supervision?

Motor transport should come under Federal supervision, like rail and water carriers. Highways should be developed in response to needs, as says a report submitted by a special committee to the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The personnel of the committee includes railway traffic officials, officers of farm and labor organizations, representatives of the motor industry, motor haulage companies, water carriers, and the shipping public.

The committee believes that—"The best interests of the public and the carriers lie in cooperation between the various agencies of transportation."

"The greatest opportunity for co-operation is at points where the capacity of the railroads is most limited; that is in the terminal areas of our great cities."

"Store door delivery by motor truck is undoubtedly the greatest contribution which can be made to the solution of the terminal problem."

"Outside of the terminal areas, motor trucks and busses should be used to supplement the facilities of common carriers."

"It is to the public interest, as well as to the interest of the respective carriers, that the economic limitations of each type be recognized; that the railroads be permitted to discontinue unprofitable service, to which the motor is better suited, and that the motor abandon its efforts to handle general traffic over excessive distances."

Aims of the National Highway Association

We are working for Good Roads Everywhere. Our 7593 Newspaper Association Members can do more to get them built than anyone else. We believe that these good roads can only be obtained through a system of National Highways, built and maintained by the National Government. We believe this is also best for the tax payers and users of our highways as well as for those who make money out of their building. We believe "A Paved United States in Our Day" can only be brought about in this way.

While we advocate this, we are for all efforts towards good roads, for all methods help toward the ultimate solution of the good road problem. While FOR National Highways we are not Against Federal Aid, even though we are convinced the latter will not solve the road problem.

National Highways will be financed by general National taxation, thus equitably distributing their cost. Therefore, the rich Northeastern States will pay about half the cost of both building and maintenance. They will profit the most and can therefore afford such cost. Nearly all the other half will be borne up by great and wealthy cities as is the case with State Highways built at State expense. This is fair, as the cities gain the most. And finally, the farmers, while getting the most miles, will pay the least. This is also fair, as the Nation is ultimately dependent upon the well being and prosperity of the farmers.

Real Highways Mean Education in Rural Districts

The "little red schoolhouse," good as it is, is not as good as "the big red schoolhouse." States which have experimented in rural districts with the "consolidated" schools (sometimes called "union schools" or "centralized schools") report a great gain in education at little or no increase of cost.

The "consolidated school" takes the place of half a dozen or more "little red schoolhouses." It collects the several teachers, libraries and facilities under one roof, and brings the children to and takes them from such schools via county operated motor busses, horse-drawn vehicles or trolly cars.

The consolidated school flourishes where good roads are. It cannot be established where are only poor roads.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction in the State of Washington sets forth as the advantages of the consolidated school, that it proves a better school plant, i. e., makes possible the erection and maintenance of more modern school buildings and school equipment. It enables the district to increase the teaching staff and to obtain better trained teachers, and gives the rural community the advantages of the uniform graded school. It makes possible the establishment of high school, and, in many instances, enables the rural district to erect a modern high school building. It provides special work, such as manual training, domestic science, etc., in the rural community, and, finally, the consolidated school increases the community interest in community activities by providing a central meeting place under attractive surroundings, making the school the center of the community circle.

Mrs. Eunice Richardson
After a short illness, Mrs. Eunice
Richardson passed away Jan. 26. Mrs.
Richardson was born in Chesterville, Apr.
18, 1856, the daughter of Matthias and Clarissa (Radcliff) Smith. When a child her parents moved to Michigan. After returning to Maine they settled in North
Norway where her father died in 1887.
She was united in marriage with Ivory Richardson of Denmark. Soon after marriage they moved to Pennsylvania, where they resided several years. After returning, they moved to Sweden where she has since resided almost fifty years.
Funeral services were conducted Jan.
29 by her pastor at the M. E. church of which she was a faithful member many years.

Her former pastors will long remember her hospitality. It was her greatest pleasure to entertain them in her home.
Although almost eighty-five, she was still young in mind and when the vote was given to women, she was very anxious to cast her first vote as the oldest woman in Sweden. She was especially loved by all the young people who have affectionately called her "Gram" Richardson for years.
Her neighbors well remember her as the first one in sickness and death to offer comfort and help. Although she followed her husband and two sons to the little cemetery in East Fryeburg, where she is now laid to rest, she always returned to her home cheerful and brave, going about her work trying to comfort an encourage those left behind. Truly, it can be said of her, "she has done what she could." Her daughter, Mrs. Lizzie Spears, tenderly cared for her in her last days. She leaves two daughters,
Mrs. Emma Wilson and Mrs. Lizzie Spears, both of Sweden, and two grandsons, Charles Wilson of Portland and John Wilson of Haverhill, Mass., and a sister, Mrs. Lizzie McLucas, of Norway.

Daniel Curtis Churchill

Daniel Curtis Churchill, the oldest man in town, died at his home, beside of the road called Churchill Hill, Sunday, at 6 p. m. He has been confined to his bed for a year or more but that day he seemed no worse than usual and ate his supper, when his granddaughter returned in a few minutes to make him comfortable for the night he was passing out.

Mr. Churchill was the son of Josiah and Rachel Churchill, grandson of Asaph Churchill, a Revolutionary soldier. He was born in Woodstock Feb. 14, 1823. He married Dorcas Elizabeth Curtis in November, 1860, who died Dec. 22, 1923, after a wedded life of over 63 years.

They had two daughters, Stella, who died a few years ago, and Mrs. Alida Richardson, who has been living with them most of the time since her sister's death and the past two or three years her daughter Florence has also been with her to help care for the old people. Besides these there are four other grandchildren, Alfred Richardson of Dixfield, Herbert Richardson of Berlin, Mrs. Mabel Putnam of Peru and Robert Churchill of Jay. There are also six great grandchildren who survive.

Mr. and Mrs. Churchill have lived for about fifty years in the home where he passed away. The house on the side of the hill is one of the most noticeable landmarks of the village.

Mr. Churchill was a member of the Methodist Church, and a member of Franklin Grange of Bryant's Pond. He has been in possession of the Post gold cane for about six years as the oldest man in town.

The funeral was held in the M. E. Church Wednesday at 1:30 p. m., Rev. H. F. Aldrich officiating.
